Jouisville Evening Express.

OLD SERIES---VOL. XXV.

LOUISVILLE, WEDNESDAY EVENING, APRIL 21, 1869.

NEW SERIES--VOL. I, NO. 3.

THE CITY.

Telegraphic News. The latest news by telegraph will found on our fourth page.

Meeting of the Council. Both boards of the City Council wil meet in regular session to-morrow evening.

Strawberries.

We notice that strawberries are plentiful in our markets this morning; it costs the economical sum of fifty cents to occupy a quart of them.

New Music.

"The Old Love is not Dead" is the title of a beautiful song and chorus recently published by Louis Tripp, the Jefferson street music dealer. It is the production of P. S. Parks.

Absent.

Dave Brady, of the firm of Brady & Co. is in New Orleans persuading the Crescent City people that they ought to take "Everybody takes it" bitters. He will re-Narn home in a few days.

Personal.

Hon. J. Proctor Knott, of Lebanon. at the Louisville Hotel. Mr. Knott, is his brief service in Congress, has proved himse If a most efficient member, always at no post and watchful of his country's in-

Large Sales.

The "state of the weather" has a won derful influence with the ladies, and with the sunshine this morning came crowds and swarms of the fair sex on our streets. The fancy dry-goods stores will make large sales to-day.

A H andsome Present.

His Honor the Mayor received a handsome present last evening from his son, John, in the shape of a pair of slippers, with Masonic emblems elaborately worked in crochet. They are the elegant handiwork of Miss Laura Koehler.

Orders for the Express.

Persons wishing the Evening Express will apply to the carriers or send their orders to our counting-room, No. 112 Jefferson street. Our paper is supplied to subscribers (Monday morning edition included) for the low price of 15 CENTS PER WEEK, OR 75 CENTS PER MONTIL A Consulship Tendered.

We hear on good authority that Col Charles Gill has been tendered a foreign consulahip worth $4.000 per year. He has not indicated as yet his acceptance of the withstanding the urgent solicitations of friends here and in Washington.

The row-boatmen on this side of the river are making extensive preparations and some have already gone into training for the coming yachting and rowing season, and we warn the "Hoosier" chaps over the Rhine" that they will, like Joey Bagstock, have to keep their eyes open i they expect to even hold their little own this summer.

Velocipede Carnival.

The whole pavement around the Court house was made the scene of a velocipede carnival last night. It seems as if, by mutual agreement, all the velocipedist of the city met there to run races, skir each other's shins, and monopolize the curbing generally-though the outsiders . seemed to enjoy the fun as much as the daring two-wheeled riders.

Skating Hall.

The skating rink just opened in th large hall known as Glover's, on Seventh street, near Chestnut, is creating quite a furore among the lovers of the art. The favorite parlor skate is used, and many to our Legislature protesting against the prefer this kind to the ice skate. Some of the amateurs are already so far advanced in the use of the rolling skate that they fort. say there is little difference between ice , and a smooth floor.

Fashion.

As an offset to the long and tediou fashion articles that are daily printed for the benefit of the ladies, we will state that Scotch goods will be the prevailing style for gentlemen during the coming season. In the way of hats we will have the "Trop ical," "Bogota," "Cueumber," "Rover, 'Kellogg," "Velocipede," and a thousand other styles. The "Monkey" short coar promises to hold its own for some time to come, and will be of light, loose cloth for were, and only ran faster and yelled loud-

Excursion to Philadelphia.

The Fiftieth Anniversary of Odd Fellowship in the United States, will be duly celebrated by the brethren of the Order in the city of Philadelphia, on the 26th of April. To enable all to attend who may wish to participate in the festivities, the United States Mail Line has decided to issue through tickets and return. The no doubt, until he executes his bonds be tickets thus issued will be good until the 6th of May, thus enabling excursionists to to administer on his effects. White vs. Black.

The hand-eart express men and the express wagon drivers don't seem to get along very lovably or amicably, and are constantly having little "tugs of war" on the streets. Yesterday a white driver and a black eart-pusher met at the corner of Market and Fifth streets, and both determined to give not an inch for the other to pass. The result was that a row of words

And it will be seen from the report that Louisville is a city of no ordinary dimensions. Her boundary lines embrace a vast area, through which streets miles up- (darkey) and Ed. Ramsey, concerning the on miles in length are distributed; and there is a numerous population dwelling upon those streets. Indeed, this report of our City Engineer leaves no doubt upon the reader that Louisville is a great city, and that she is growing greater and greater the charge of perjury, and alleges he will from year to year.

Grace Episcopal Church Entertain-

On Friday evening, the benefit entertainment of Grace Episcopal Church takes place at Weisiger Hall. The many good things which the entertainment is made up instructive to those who see them. Some been enlisted for this exhibition. Among attack the acting pieces on the programme, we notice "Cinderella" and "Box and Cox.' Fine tableaux will comprise a large porcharming vocalist, has volunteered to sing three o'clock P. M. We will print the "The prayer," from Der Freischutz;" 'Shadow song," from Dinorah; "John EDITION. Anderson, my Joe, John," and "Five o'clock in the morning;" and Mrs. Davison's rendition of these pieces will alone be well worth the whole sum charged for admission. Two evening entertainments will be given on Friday and Saturday, and also a grand matinee Saturday

Market Flowers.

The balmy days of April are bringing to the city the beauties of the florist's care. At the corners of the streets, and in front of the markethouses, we daily see roses, the vegetable world what woman is to the one as the other. Nature has not given to flowers their gorgeons colors and sweet perfume for nothing. They add to the attractiveness of the world, and have much to do with our happiness. The man who ecs no beauty in the floral world is nufit for the refined circles of life. He can never appreciate fair woman as he should if he admires not the rose, whose sweet perfume fills the air and whose gorgeous colors glad the eye.

Spare the Trees.

We have been told that it is proposed to emove and destroy the grand old syeamores which form the beautiful green border around the the old cemetry in the western part of the eity. We do not see the necessity of such destruction of one of the loveliest clusters of shade-trees in our city, that would make the old graveyard a barren, desert-like spot-now one of our most inviting and pleasant summer resorts. Let the trees remain; they are the sentinels and protectors of many of Louisvill's honored dead, and are very dear to the friends of those buried there. We are informed that a petition will be presented removal of these trees, and we hope it will find favor with our great men at Frank

"Loud and Unusual Noise." About one o'clock this morning the slumbering denizens on Eighth street, be tween Walnut and Grayson, were startled by the cry of "Watch! murder!" and like exciting exclamations, reiterated by man flying along the street at Richmond speed, with hair erect and streaming in the breeze. No one could tell where he started from, or what had been the cause of his fright. As he flew by, several watchmen joined in the chase, but the fel low was too much scared to tell who they er, and the last seen of him he was making an air-line toward the river. We presume he was crazy, and hope he was checked in his "inad career" before doing himself any serious injury.

Office Seeking the Man.

LOUISVILLE, April 21, 1869. To the Editor of the Evening Express: I am profoundly grateful to my friends for the very flattering call which is made upon me, in the Evening Express of the 20th inst., to become the Evening Express of the 20th inst., to become a candidate for the Legislature in the legislative district composed of the Eighth and Ninth wards of this city. Should I be chosen by the people to fill the place, if assignity in business and honesty of purpose in the faithful discharge of a public duty will win the esteem of the generous people with whom I live, I hope to develop such virtues. I now announce myself a candidate and hope to meet with success.

THE MODEL NAVY-YARD. Splendid Field for Talented Swindlers.

From the N. Y. Sun, 19th.

The contractors and officials at the Brooklyn navy-yard have so long rested ecurely in the shadow of their comparatively private place of business, that the deeper we probe the fouler seems the wound in the Governmental flesh, They remained for some time unexposed to the public eye. But The Sun has reached them at last, as it will reach every nook on earth: and now that it has found them, it will throw its whole light on them, until they have ded to the darkness that is their

Our readers will remember the gigantic swindle we exposed in our issues of Satur-day and Wednesday; we will now continue our account. There is a law that on the cuss with kinky head and paper collar, delivery of materials for a contractor, they and seemed to care very little for the shall be examined by an inspector, and lu heliotropes and other flowers to glad the and seemed to care very little for the shall be examined by an inspector, and lu eye and cheer the heart. Flowers are to charge against him. His case was laid case they are accepted, the work shall prothe expense of the contractor. this, we find a storehouse made of the yard and docks, and the owners leave their property there until it suits their conve-nience to take it away. This law further states that in case the material is rejected, it shall be removed at the owner's ex-pense, and within ten days. We will give an example of how well this law is obeyed. A contractor delivered a schooner-load of flooring, nearly 100,000 feet; it was accept ed, and he was paid for it, and after leav ing it in the yard nearly two years, removed it on the ground that it had been rejected. No sensible man will suppose that the officials were Ignorant of the tate of things, and that in giving the pass they received no share of the plunder sible idea of the natural goodness of the human heart. The truth is that the very fact of his being furnished with a pass gives us another of the many modes in which the Government is robbed. Cases of mahogany, spars and valuable materia of every kind have been removed in the same way, even when there is not a shad ow of doubt as to their being Government property. Officers' luggage need not be bothered with a pass; that has free passage without one. What cannot be stolen under the name of officers' luggage?

We are usually too modest to offer ad Yet might we say, if only to make eascal responsible for such thieving, some rascal responsible let one of the many officials, high or lov e appointed to sign these passes, and only one, and not receive more than $300 additional pay for this additional labor.

A Drama in High Life.

The Moniteur Universel of Paris, of the 5th, publishes the following: The inmates of the barracks of the Guards of Paris were shocked last Sunday by the report that the Commandant Thevel had com mitted suicide in his chambers. On henr ng the report of the pistol several persons harried to the room and there discovered the body of the officer lying on the bed and a pistol by his side. A woman in neglige was in the room frantically culling for assistance. At first it was feared that the ommandant had been assassinated, and the female, who was proved to be a duchess, with whom he had been clandestinely connected for some six months, was arrested on suspicion, but soon released on bail. The greatest mystery prevails on the subject, but from evident traces of a struggle ject, but from evident traces of a struggle it is inferred that the duchess endeavored to preyent her paramour from committing the fatal deed. Reported Armament of French Iron-Clads.

Paris (April 2) correspondence of the London Express. The one fact which to-day affords most aliment to the uneasy feeling which prerails, is the rumor that Prussia has proposed to abrogate the treaty of alliance, offensive and defensive, with the Southern States of Germany. There are two versions of the story. The optimist one is that France, having made diplomatic observations about the violation of the treaty of Prague involved in the solidarization of all Germany, M. Bismarck, out of deference to the "susceptibilities" of France, and in the interest of the general peace, hus thought it politie to take the of a measure which national pride would ot have allowed him to take ut the dietation of France. A less incredible but more alarming explanation of the news is, that M. Hismarck, having no doubt that the Freuch Emperor will shortly attack russia with all the legions that he has ong been organizing, thinks it expedient to concentrate his means of defence and offer a less extensive surface to the enemy The repeal of the treaties with the South ern States would neutralize half Germany and make it very difficult for Austria to act as the ally of France. On the Rhin and in Belgium M. Bismarck feels confident that the needle gun would stand well against Chassepot. While these conflict ng statements are in circulation, there mes this evening a telegram from Mureported intention of Prussia to annul the treaty. The Phare de la Loire reports that an order has been received as Oherbourg to arm all the lron-clad ships before May lst, and that the funds necessary for this

STAND FROM UNDER. The Coming Revolution in the

From the New York Herald. All the signs of the times indicate that a sweeping revolution must come at no distant day in this country. Not a revolution of the barricades or at the point of and infamous distitch of his with a diathe bayonet, for that is unnecessary here, where the people have the power to accom tion, nevertheless, as thorough and comable eye-witness, and it is difficult to see how his statements can be anything else for a change in the administration of the han apochryphal.

The Spanish Crown.

From the New York World, 19th. One cannot help suspecting that the At lantic cable is managed just now in the interest of Queen Isabella II. and Marfo rio. It sends us such wonderful items of Spanish news as it is hard to conceive that anybody not deeply concerned to discredi the provisional government of Spain should be at the pains of manufacturing. To day, for example, it informs us that Prince Frederic Charles, of Prussia, and the be at the pains of 'Duke of Luxembourg' are the newes candidates for the vacant throne of Castile and Leon. Prince Frederic Charles, of Prussia, is a nephew of King William, who distinguished himself in the recent war between Prussia and Austria. He is still young man, having been born in 1828. THF TWITCHELL CASE AGAIN

Another Confession. From the Philadelphia Evening Telegraph.

The melancholy tragedy, which comenced with the murder of Mrs. Hill and nded with the suicide of George S. Twitchell, jr., in his cell, on the night previous o his appointed execution, would seem to have no ending as far as reports about its arious details are concerned. During he past few hours a rumor of a full confession by the suicide to his counsel has been widely circulated, and on tracing it to its source we regard it as of suffic mportance and reliability to be laid before the public. It is necessary to state in advance, however, that Twitchell's counsel feel unable to give the public any direct light on the subject, being bound by the ules of professional etiquette not to diulge any secrets confided to them by their

The confession which Twitchell is reported to have made to his counsel is such stantially as follows: On the day previous to the murder of Mrs. Hill, Twitchell, bent upon effecting her death with his own nands, made a slung-shot at his place of usiness in Camden. With this murder us wenpon he struck the old lady a fornidable blow, no one but the actors in the tragedy being present, and then, unassistthe yard. He then walked down stairs in to the yard, and proceeded to wash the While so engaged, he noticed that the body of his mother-in-law, lying near him, still exhibited manifestations of life. as this discovery was made, he hastened into the house, entering the kitchen first. The first murderons weapon which he encountered here was the poker found near the body of the murdered woman. he seized, and, hurrying back to the yard, dealt the dying woman another blow on the head, finishing the murderous work. He then repaired to his room, and the deed was discovered in the manner with which the public is already familiar.

Such is the substance of the alleged confession, and we give it for what it is worth. It will not be amiss, however to recall a circumstance which tends in some measure to confirm this story. Mr. Mann, on the trial of Twitchell, endeavored to prove that the weapon which inflicted the blows was a slung-shot, and not the policy.

A Happy Family.

Our Radical friends in this State do no seem fully to appreciate the beauty of that spectacle which presents itself to the eve of the virtuous and the good when brethrer dwell together in unity. There does no seem to prevail among them that fraterna affection which is the chief charm in every well regulated family. Such of them as have been so fortunate as to share in the division of the spoils which have so largely accumulated at Washington, are not disposed to trample unde foot the sublime sentiment of their politi cal oracle, "Let Us Have Peace," for the have each got their piece; but such o them as are forced to stand off and se the seductive loaves and fishes devoured by others, with not a morsel to appeare their ravenous hunger, are making no effort whatever to conceal their disgust at Grant's utter want of iudgment and discriminain his Kentucky appoint Yesterday the name of Grant among them might have stood against the world; to-day there is none so poor as to do him reverence. Some weeks ago a number of them, here in Louisville, met at Turner Hall, with indignant tears gushing from their eyes and prophetic wrath hissing from their lips, to protest, in the name of "loyalty," against the confirmation of Dr. Speed's appointment as postmaster, and when the head of the Survey or of Customs rolled in the dust, and hi "surveying instruments" were placed in the hands of a man who could accept them only by becoming a carpet-bagger, there was another howl in Rome. The inne cent blood of Col. Bolling appealed to them from the ground in vain for one tear of pity or regret, and among them there was not one voice lifted up to ery out, trumpet-tongued, against the deep damnation of his taking off. The guillotined surveyor was in the way of more than one of them; but when the President the office to a citizen of New Albany, he did the deed which made Rome howl.

We do not recollect of ever having seen brethren so sadly wanting in unity and brotherly love. Sam. McKee, who is a sort of high priest among them, rejoices. we are told, that an office holder of Ketucky has been turned out to make room for an office-seeker of Indiana, declares that he would rejoice still more if Massachusetts men were sent down to fill every office in Louisville. This unfraternal sentiment on the part of Samuel shows great demoralization in his section of the ranks. In what way the Radicals of Louisville have rendered themselves so obnoxious to the great embodiment of Kentucky Radical obnoxiousness is not known outside of the happy family. But it is presumed that they hold their heads a little too high for him. Samuel belongs to that class of unwashed political Bohemians who regard as an aristocrat every man who wears clean hands and a boiled shirt. And then again, the obnoxions Radicals here, besides their crime of living in Louisville, are far too conservative to suit Samuel's ideas of Radicalism. They believe that it would hardly be fair to hang all the "rebels" of the South without giving them the benefit of clergy, and that the negro who does not behave himself is not much better than the white man who does. In the eyes of Samuel these opinions are worse than heterodox, and should be punished with fire and faggot.

The discontent which the distribution of the spoils has created among the party They all wanted to be Postmaster or Survevor of Customs, and when the one office Mr. Luse, their disappointment was too much for them. They couldn't stand it. They boiled over. Like McKee they wanted to blow up the whole customhouse. For aught we know they want to blow i up still. And the occupants of that mas sive structure owe it to themselves, and to the Government whose private properly i is, to go into the basement every night in search of a Guy Fawkes with a dark lantern and a barrel of nitro-glycerine.

But these discontented Radicals are no so very much to blame for kicking up. both behind and before, at the appoint ment of Mr. Luse, for it looks a little as if their President, whom they trusted so blindly, is not willing to trust them at all, Yet, inasmnch as they rejoiced when the Northern Vandals swarmed through the South and usurped every place of profit or plunder, they really have no right to complain of the New Albany Goth when he invades their own territory and seizes one of its treasures.

It is intimated that the reason the Louisiana negro declined Grant's offer of the mission to Liberia was that he understood the Liberians to be cannibals, who delight and New York. It is said that at a fron in nothing more than an American Min-tier ball, recently, a noted Indian belle ister on the half-shell. That scared him appeared in a hoopskirt, ornamented with off.

THE President appointed "Gen." Cooper, commander of Brownlow's militia, the Collector of Internal Revenue for the Knoxville district, but so far Cooper has been able to find not a single man ju that city who is willing to go on his bond.

Foreign Money.

The value in our dollars and cents of the principal coins of the world is as follows: English pound $4 85, French Napoleon $3 90, English shilling 23c, French franc 192c, Prussian thaler 73c, Mexican dollar $1 07, Italian pistole $3 84, Porturuese Milsee 78c. Roman scudo $1 06. Spauish doubloon $15 70, Belgian frie fraus 98c, Russian rouble 79c, Hamburg .4 50 more banco 33 c. These are but a few of he many that might be given, but they are enough to show that it is a great pity there is not some way of getting at an inernational coinage. The traveler meets with trouble in money matters so soon as ie leaves his native country, no matter to what nation he belongs uor into what other region he goes. And surely the merchant s not free from trouble in estimating his wares according to the various moneys of he countries with which he trades.

THE Washington correspondent of the New York World tells how a brave man as been shabbily treated by the adminis ration: "The confirmation of Jos. C. Brand, Consul at Nuremberg, made, it is reported, quite a scene in the Senate. General Lefevre, of Ohio, present incum bent, is a veteran volunteer, who fough his way up from a private to a generalship by sheer bravery and capacity, and vhose promotion was forced out of the department by his gallautry, despite of the lesire to keep him down, because he is a Democrat. He had been wounded six times, is the only Democrat from Ohio holding a federal office, and, moreover, is an excellent English and German scholar, and has been the best of consuls. His uccessor is a man who does not know a squadron from a hunk of gingerbread; was never in the war, except by contract, and only indifferently knows even th English language. These facts were eloquently brought out by conservative Senators in executive session; but they availed only to strengthen the Radica vote which called the soldier home.'

In an article on "our inconsistencies the Chicago Times is very severe upon us Among other things it says: "Billions in debt, we subsidize enormous and swindling railway enterprises; we purchase Alaska; we negotiate for St. Thomas; we propose to buy Cuba; we offer millions for a Mediterranean island; and have serious thoughts of buying one or two Mexican States. A professed Union of sovereign and equal States, we do not hesitate to enact and enforce legislation wherein individual States are made subjects of invidious law. Declaring solemnly and unmistakably in our compact of union that each State shall decide for itself as to the qualifications of voters, we provide penalties to oblige certain States to forego their rights in this particular, and to allow New turned his back upon them all and gave England to prescribe the qualifications of the voters of South Carolina." Severe; but just, nevertheless.

> THE other day the President nominated a fellow named Enos Hopkins for postmaster at Nashville, and afterwards withthere says the dispatch announcing the withdrawal was "received with very geueral and decided gratification by Union people, and, indeed, by the community generally." It is a melancholy fact that about half of Grant's appointees are Hopkinses, and their immediate withdrawal would shed a lustre upon his administration that will otherwise never be seen

ONE of the worst things Grant has yet done in making appointments was the making a Minister to China out of Howard, of Michigan, in the place of J. Ross Browne. The Chicago Times very truth fully says that Browne is a gentleman of intellect, culture and extensive knowledge of the world, against whom, as a diplomat, there is found no ground of com plaint, while Howard, on the other hand, is a mere pot-house politician, with nearly as much knowledge of diplomacy as a Digger Indian has of the Talmud.

GOLDEN hair fluids have recently been the subject of continued investigation by an English chemist, who, after a careful analysis, asserts that they are composed of dilute nitric and muriatic acids, with traces, in some instances, of sulphuric acid. Though the proprietors of these fluids announce that the preparations are harmless, yet instances have been reported of ladies being injured by drops of the here in Louisville is easily accounted for. hair dye falling on their shoulders. The agent to effect the change in the color of the hair is nitric acid, aided by the chlo was given to Dr. Speed and the other to rine evolved by the decomposition of the muriatic acid.

> Ax ingenious individual has laid before Professor Morse, the electrician, a plan for sending velocipedes over wires by electricity. He proposes that the wheels shall run on wires, one above and one below, the tires being grooved. He thinks that they can be used for carrying the mail, and even goes so far as to propose to send a man from New York to New Orleans in an hour and a half. It may not be improper to say that we are not the man he is going to send. Not if we can help it.

Ix his appointments General Grant is the most unhappy of Presidents. When the wrong man is in reach, it is not often that he selects the right one. When there is more than one applicant for a placeand there are generally a thousand-he would do much better to let them "draw straws" to determine who should take it He certainly couldn't do worse. It would be impossible for him to get the wrong man as often as he now does.

Ir is estimated that the annual cost of the Federal Government is $380,000,000. and of State governments $350,000,000, Nann and Richards, of Tennessee, as Min making a total of $730,000,000 annually, This is $160,000,000 more than the govrnment expenses in Great Britain. On hesc enormous revenues, whisky, railroad, and, steamship and all other sorts of greedy and gorging rings are at work to ransfer the public treasure to their elastic pockets. It would seem as if Congress had ome to be looked upon as only a machine o legislate for the distribution of public plunder. The whole tendency of legisla tion is to build up privileged classes, to create artificial wealth, to make the rich richer, until fortunes which were once onsidered large are now looked upon as nere bagatelles. An enthusiastic female admirer of Anna Dickinson styles her "the glorious girl, who, without a thought of self, demands in eloquent tones justice and liberty for all, and prophecies like any oracle of old." No, "the glorious girl" never thinks of herself while demanding justice and liberty for all; but she never fails to think of night for the eloquent tones in which her demand is made.

THE deposits at the United States mint. n Philadelphia, in the month of March, were $92.719 in gold and $26,633 in silver a total of $119,353. The total number of pieces coined during the month was two million eight hundred and eighty-two thousand one hundred and seventy-five, of the total value of $173,238.

Forty Shillings and Costs,

From Chambers' Journal. I had been all day trying to get from Aveminster to Chelchester by a country ine, a London line, a branch line of railbly to start its trains five minutes before the arrival of the "up" country train, making us wait for two hours at Marlbury Greeley thinks it cruel to set spring Junction, to spite the country company, scarcely tended to rapid progress. ALARMED. Bridging the Ohio-Southern Rail-

To the Editor of the Cincignati Gazette The bridge question is again up in the ed under the chin. Ohio Legislature in an effort to require five hundred feet span, and repeal the charter of the Bridge Company now pro-posing to erect a railroad bridge of four hundred feet span. While our citizens are exerting themselves to get permission are exerting themselves to get permissio to tax themselves to make a railroad co nection with the Southern system of rail-roads, and there is every likelihood that the great Eastern trunk railroads may be the enterprise and make our city the base of their starting point, this movement in the Legislature, if successful, would de feat all and throw to Louisville, with her railroad bridge of four hundred feet span, all that it was hoped could be secured for Cincinnati. No safe railroad bridge of Cincinnati. except at such an enormous cost that the Eastern roads would prefer making a point in some other State their base, and consideration, has fixed four hundred feet span as the minimum. Points north and south of our city are at work under this legislation. I hope our Hamilton county delegation and the citizens generally will protest against this interference with their future business prospects.

From the Correspondence N. Y. Herald, 19th,

Paris, March 30, 1869. At the last bal masque given before Lent I came across an eccentric masker in hippic celebration, which is to take place one of the outer passages. He was dress- at the Palais de l'Industrie; and this reed as Clodache, in flaming red, jaunty yellow and spangles; but the expression of his countenance and his general air were Pic IX. Of course they will all be pic most dejected. He was, besides, lying balds. rolled up in his velvet cloak along the ground, considering the antics of the dancers in view with deep melancholy. A Mephisto, with 'whom I was pacing through the lobbies, gave him a friendly kick, inquiring, "Why so surly, friend?" a banker's son. It was inclosed in a large ebony egg, with silver rims and silver hinges. This egg had a renaissance lock and a gold and silver key. Gold and silver, the magic key to hearts. BILLIARDS.

The Progress of the Game-The Improvements Made and Mak-

From notice of "Roberts on Billiards" in the London Atheneum. Whilst the game has grown popular in England, its acceptance on the continent and in transatlantic lands has become still more general. Every provincial town of France has its public tables, every important chateau has its room for play with ivory balls. There is no amusement on which the Parisians spend more time or money. "It is estimated that there are now in Paris alone over 20,000 tables, the vigor of health into the system and purges whose gross receipts," says the Figaro, out the humors that make disease it being two days previous to that on which are competed to amount to £12,000 a April and ladies make fools of men. It was what a poet or ballad writer would servos to while away the idle hours of hundreds of artisans, clerks and citizen who daily haunt the cafes in the vicinity of the boulevards. The game, however, was equally in its infancy in France, as in other countries, until the invention of the leather-tipped caes and the discovery of screw and twists in the early part of this these important improvements on the primitive game may be confidently ascribed to M. Mingaud, a celebrated profes sional player, whose imprudent utterance of political sentiments resulted in his in

From France Mingaud's leather-tipped que was introduced into England, where its adoption was not effected without opposi tion. A considerable period, however elapsed before his simple device, which al nost rendered billiards a new game, was used in America, where it is said to have uggestion that in billiards, no less than n other fields of enterprise, the proverbial superiority of leather over all other materials might be demonstrated at the cue's

How Mingaud, after instructing Paris in he art of managing the leather-tipped cue, stounded a company of provincial amateurs by his consuminate mastery of the instrument, Mr. Roberts tells in the fol-owing story: "A few years later he became known as he great master of the game. He could urse a break, screw and eause his ball to follow with the atmost nicety and certain-ty. Happening once to be traveling brough the northern part of France, he entered a cafe, when he found a pluyer re-lating his adventures in Paris to an admiring and attentive group. His success had been great at billiards. He had met had been great at bilinards.

Mingaud, who was a very fair player, but

He had improved himself in Paris, and would show them the latest strokes. Then came a ceeded to attempt, and lamentably fail, in the demonstration of certain hazards. After laying aside this cue, Mingaud advanced, took it up and struck the white ball, which, after contact with the red, re-coiled upon him, Affecting extreme horror, he dropped the cue and summoned the waiter, to whom he explained that when he had pushed the ball forward it ran backward. The spectators were in crodulous, and in reply to their entreaties, Mingaud attempted another stroke, but the same result. The balls were seized and condenned as "tormented by a devil," and the waiter proceeded to obtain

During his absence, Mingaud proposed a trial with the newcomer from Paris, who only too happy agreed to play, and, being the "crack" of the district, to give five points start. At first he was allowed to win, became exultant, and eventunlly was bold enough to express an opinion that the great Mingaud would be a poor match for him. Suddenly the tables were turned; Mingaud played him at evens, then gave points, and eventually beat him with a start of 15 in 21. The spectators were interested at the outset, because their townsman won, then amazed at the curious strokes exhibited by the stranger, who ous strokes exhibited by the stranger, who now screwed, now followed, and continued scoring, sometimes the full game, without allowing his opponent a single stroke. And now, Monsieur, said Mingaud, addressing his discomfited adversary, do you feel equally certain of your ability to encounter the best player in Paris? 'I counter the best player in Paris? 'I defeated many experts there. You must be the devil. None other could possess so entire a mastery over the balls. play you no more. LOUISVILLE, KY., June 20, 1863. Dear Sir: I was called on to visit a paand fever for npward of two years, and could get no relief for more than two weeks at a time, although she had employed some of the best physicians in the city, and had taken every patent medicine she could hear of. When I saw her she was very low, suffering with irritable stomach, diarrhea, swelling of the limbs, and a dreadful cough. I prescribed your exceilent medicine in half doses for four days, which, to my astonishment, performed a permanent cure. She has not had a chill nor a sign of one since, and is no w stout and well. I recommend it most chee .fully to all afflicted with that aggravating di ease—the chills—as a safe and sure cure.

Yours, truly, G. S. WHIPPLE, M. D. P. S.-I have used it ln a number of cases since, and it has invariably performed a permanent enre. I have never seen anything equal it, although I have been prescribing for the chills for twenty years.

Several private meetings of influential persons have recently been held here for he purpose of considering the great question of a change in the form of govern-ment, and the general dissatisfaction with the present state of things is more openly expressed. The newspapers are at last beginning to meet the question face to face, and giving utterance to the sentiment which has long been widely discussed among the people, although few have had courage to express publiely in favor of independence; but a large party, I believe aim at annexation to the United States and will soon make itself prominent.

The acquisition of the Iludson Bay ter-ritory has given additional force to the arguments of the annexationists. It is felt that such a magnificent domain as the new dominion now promises to be, ought no longer to be dwarfed and kept down by dependence on a transatlantic government. That the people of Great Britain shall surrender her North American possession as a set off against the Alabama claims has ereated a deep sensation in certain cities. Not a few regard it with decided favor.

AUSTRIA. The Rumored Triple Alliance.

The Wanderer of Vienna has an article

n the rumored triple alliance between rance, Italy and Austria, which, appear ig as it does in an influential Austrian arnal, is well worth attention. We subin the greater part of it: The reported alliance between Austria

d Italy, of which we have lately heard o much, could have neither common sense or a definite object, except in so far as i erved to supplement an understanding netween France and Austria. That such understanding has been already arrived seems to be taken for granted by the estern press and the French semi-official But we in Austria have a right to mand some eclarcissements about the urpose of these two supposed alliances. We naturally ask, in case of a league with Italy, what can that country receive from and what can it give us in return? With still greater solicitude do we put the ame question when we hear of an alliance tween Austria and France. The friendhip of Napoleou III. has cost Austria her talian possessions, has made her a part er in the disaster of Mexico, and even after Koniggratz the policy of France did not spare Austria one of the sacrifices which she was obliged to make to Prussia. The more, then, the reports of such alli nices assume a definite form in the politi cal world, the more we are justified in nquiring about the direction which the external policy of Austria has recently the passage of Senate bill 575 over the Governor's veto, and asking the concurrence of the House therein. This is the bill which the Governor ob-eeted to as against public policy. It provides for paying railroad debts in countowns and townships, with the tax collected in those localities, as in exess of the tax of 1868.

This is a most important bill to the railroad projects now on the tapis in that State, and it is particularly so to the Danville, Olney and Padueah road, as this road runs through a number of counties that, when developed by the road, will be among the best agricultural counties in the State This bill gives to the counties the increase in the revenue arising from the increased value of lands over the assessment of 1868

To illustrate: If land was assessed in 1868 at five dollars per agre, and in 1873 it had advanced to ten dollars per aere, the county will be entitled to the taxes eolleeted on the valuation over five dollars per aere, the valuation of 1868.

A Tameeting of the President and Directors of the "National Life Insurance Company, of Kentucky," it was resolved, with a view of winding up the affairs of said company, to reinsure the lives of all policy-holders.
With a view to select the best company out of the many offering to take the risks, after patient and close investigation, we unanimously decided to reinsure in the Globe Mutual Life insurance Cumpany, of New York, represented in Kentucky by Gen. S. B. Buckuer and Dr. George E. Cooke, as presenting safety, reliability and liberality, as regards its policy-holders. We have taken out policles
